

Respect and Listening

There can be more than one considerate response. Discuss, draw, write or pass.

Someone is speaking

You have a question while a family member is speaking. What could you try?

What might I say or do? A drawing is welcome.

A different choice

Two people want different games. How might you make room for both choices?

What might I say or do? A drawing is welcome.

These are ordinary family scenarios, not Islamic rulings, school rules or a required apology script.

Help is not wanted

You offered help and the other person said no. What could a respectful next step be?

What might I say or do? A drawing is welcome.

A pause is needed

Someone asks for a break during an activity. What could you change or ask?

What might I say or do? A drawing is welcome.
